Who we are

We are Vyne Technologies Limited, a company registered in England and Wales under company number 11872778 and having our registered office at 75 Shelton Street, London, Greater London, United Kingdom, WC2H 9JQ. Our principal place of business is Suite 15.1, Linford Forum, 18 Rockingham Drive, Milton Keynes, MK14 6LY. In this Privacy Policy, this is the company referred to as “we” or “us” or “our” or “Vyne”.

We are a technology provider whose mission is to improve the way ecommerce retailers get paid online.

We connect business and consumers to their bank accounts to allow safe and secure payment for goods and services, instantaneously and at a low cost.

We do this by using a combination of direct bank connections and third party aggregators.

We are authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) as an Authorised Payment Institution with reference number 925649.

About this policy

Vyne is committed to protecting and respecting your privacy. This policy sets out the basis on which any personal data we collect from you, or that you provide to us, will be processed by us in accordance with applicable data protection laws.

We are the data controller of any personal data you provide to us which is covered by this privacy policy, and we are subject to applicable data protection laws. We also process personal data as a data processor on behalf of our clients, as described below.

If you have any questions please email info@payvyne.com

This Policy was published last updated on 26th April 2021. We may change this Policy from time to time, when we do we will publish the updated Policy on our website.

If you are a payment service user, each time you give consent to initiate a payment, you will be deemed to have accepted the version of the Privacy Policy which is posted on our website at the time of making the consent.

If you are a merchant, we will contact you via email if we make a change to our Privacy Policy which affects how we process your personal data.

About you

This policy applies to:

- everybody who accesses our Website (www.payvyne.com) (“website visitors”);
- people who use our services to make payments (“payment service users”);
and
- businesses who contract with us to receive payments or access other merchant services, or potential business customers (“merchants”).

You must be 18 years old or over to use this Website or any of our services. We do not intend to process any data for persons under the age of 18. If we become aware that we are collecting data for under 18's we will investigate the issue and ensure that all such data is identified, processing is stopped immediately and all data is deleted following our security processes.

It is important that the personal data we hold about you is accurate and current. Please keep us informed if your personal data changes during your relationship with us.

What type of information do we collect from you?

The personal information we collect about you depends on the particular activities carried out through our Website or the services and/or products that we are or are planning to provide to you.

We will only collect the data that we need to collect in order to perform these activities.

We also collect, use and share aggregated data such as statistical or demographic data for business purposes ("Aggregated Data"). Aggregated Data may be derived from your personal data but is not considered personal data as this data does not directly or indirectly reveal your identity. For example, we may aggregate your Usage Data to calculate the percentage of users accessing a specific Website feature. However, if we combine or connect Aggregated Data with your personal data so that it can directly or indirectly identify you, this is then treated as personal data which will be used in accordance with this Policy.

If you are a website visitor

We currently collect and process the following information:

- Technical Data, which includes internet protocol (IP) address, browser type and version, time zone setting and location, browser plug-in types and versions, operating system and platform and other technology on the devices you use to access our Website.
- Usage Data, which includes anonymous analytical data about how you use our Website.
- Contact data, which includes information submitted through the “contact us” form on our website

If you are a payment service user

We currently collect and process the following information:

- Transaction Data, which includes the banking or financial institutions you make payments from via our services, dates, amounts, and beneficiary (merchant) details.
 - In general this data is not considered personal data as it does not directly or indirectly reveal your identity; however, if we combine or connect transaction data with other data (for example, we combine transaction data with account data to initiate a refund or investigate a dispute) then this data will be treated as personal data which will be used in accordance with this Policy.
- Technical Data, which may include internet protocol (IP) address, and other data necessary to direct you to your bank or financial institution to initiate a transaction;
- Usage Data, which includes anonymous analytical data about how you use our products and services; and
- Financial Data, which may include your bank account details (including sort code and account number), your billing address, and your full name.

- When you initiate a payment from a UK bank, we do not process financial data unless this is necessary to perform a separate service to you (such as initiating a refund or payout at the request of a merchant), to investigate problems or disputes relating to our services, or where this is necessary to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations.
- When you initiate a payment from a bank within the European Economic Area (EEA), it may be necessary for us to collect limited financial data (such as your IBAN) so we can set up your payment correctly.
- When you initiate a payment into an account we operate on behalf of a merchant, we may also receive financial data (including your name, postcode, sort code, and account number) from your bank, which is sent with the payment. When we receive data in this way, we employ additional security measures, such as “pseudonymisation”, to minimise the extent of personal data processing.
- When you initiate a payment into an account we operate on behalf of a merchant, we may also receive financial data (including your name, postcode, sort code, and account number) from your bank, which is sent with the payment. When we receive data in this way, we employ additional security measures, such as “pseudonymisation”, to minimise the extent of personal data processing.

If you are a merchant

We currently collect and process the following information:

- Contact Data, which includes the full names and contact details of key individuals within your organisation relevant to the service we provide;
- Identity and Screening Data, which includes information required to verify the identity of your organisation’s representatives and beneficial owners and any other personal data which may be necessary for us to comply with our obligations under Anti Money Laundering (AML) legislation or other regulations;
- Financial Data, which includes the account details (account name, account number and sort code) of trading accounts you wish to receive payments into;

- Profile Data, which includes any username or passwords you use to log in to our services or administer your account(s) with us, interests, preferences, feedback and survey responses;
- Technical Data, which may include internet protocol (IP) addresses, and other data which is necessary to facilitate payments, administer your account, manage risk, and comply with our legal and regulatory obligations;
- Usage Data, which includes analytical data about how you use our products and services.

How do we collect data from you?

We use different methods to collect data from and about you including through:

A) Direct interactions. You may give us your Identity Data, Contact Data and Financial Data by filling in forms or by corresponding with us by post, phone, email or otherwise. This includes personal data you provide when you:

- apply for or use our products or services;
- subscribe to our services, products and/or publications;
- contact us using the contact us form on the Website;
- request marketing materials to be sent to you; or give us feedback.

B) Automated technologies or interactions. As you interact with our Website, we may automatically collect Technical Data about your equipment, browsing actions and patterns. We collect this personal data by using cookies, server logs and other similar technologies. We may also receive Technical Data about you if you visit other websites employing our cookies. Please see our cookie policy for further details on how we use cookies and similar technologies which is available here.

C) Third parties or publicly available sources. We may receive personal data about you from various third parties and public sources as set out below:

(i) Technical Data from the following parties:

- a) analytics providers based inside or outside the EU;
- b) advertising networks based inside or outside the EU; and
- c) search information providers based inside or outside the EU.

(ii) Contact Data, Financial Data and/or Transaction Data from:

- a) providers of technical, payment and delivery services based inside or outside the EU;
- b) Credit reference agencies;
- c) Anti-fraud databases and other third party databases, including sanctions lists; and
- d) Government agencies, such as tax authorities

(iii) Identity Data and Contact Data from data brokers or aggregators based inside or outside the EU.

(iv) Identity Data and Contact Data from publicly available sources such as Companies House and the Electoral Registers based inside the EU.

How we use your personal data

We will process your personal information lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner. We collect and process information about you only where we have legal basis for doing so. The most appropriate legal basis will depend on how you use our Website, the services or products that we provide, and/or how you use our services and/or products. Most commonly, we will use your personal information in the following circumstances:

- Performance of a Contract: Where we need to perform the contract we have entered into with you or to take steps at your request before entering into such a contract (for example, when we provide a service you request from us).
- Legitimate Interests: Where it is necessary for our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests.
- Legal Obligation: Where we need to comply with a legal or regulatory obligation.
- Consent: you give us consent to do so for a specific purpose. Generally we rely on consent where:
 - we use your information to initiate a payment from your bank or financial institution;
 - we send you direct marketing communications that require consent by law;
 - where we place cookies or similar technologies on your device in accordance with our cookie policy (available here); and
 - on other occasions where we ask you for consent, in which case we will use the data for the purposes we explain at that time.

We have set out below a description of all the ways we use your personal data and which of the legal bases we rely on to do so. We have also identified what our legitimate interests are where appropriate.

Note that we may process your personal data for more than one lawful ground depending on the specific purpose for which we are using your data. Please contact us if you need details about the specific lawful ground we are relying on to process your personal data where more than one ground has been set out in the categories below.

We have carried out balancing tests for all the data processing we carry out on the basis of our Legitimate Interests. You can obtain information on any of our balancing tests by contacting us at info@payvyne.com.

Marketing and Opting Out

We aspire to provide you with choices regarding certain personal data uses, particularly around marketing and advertising.

You can ask us to stop sending you marketing messages at any time by following the unsubscribe links on any marketing message sent to you; or by contacting us at info@payvyne.com.

We will not pass your data on to third-party marketing companies.

Who has access to your information?

We may have to share your personal data with the parties set out below for the purposes set out in the table above:

- service providers who provide IT and system administration services;
- our connectivity providers (currently Token and Yapily) who help us to connect to your bank account;
- our e-money provider Modulr who helps us to process payments for merchants, and facilitate refunds and payouts to payment service users;
- our customer support system Zendesk, who helps us deal with support requests and queries in relation to our products and services;
- professional advisers including lawyers, bankers, auditors and insurers who provide consultancy, banking, legal, insurance and accounting services;
- HM Revenue & Customs, the Financial Conduct Authority, regulators and other authorities based in the United Kingdom or European Union who require reporting of processing activities in certain circumstances;
- third-party services providers which enable us to establish and validate your identity;

- credit reporting agencies, courts, tribunals and regulatory authorities, in the event you fail to pay for goods or services we have provided to you;
- courts, tribunals, regulatory authorities and law enforcement officers, as required by law, in connection with any actual or prospective legal proceedings, or in order to establish, exercise or defend our legal rights; and
- third parties to whom we may choose to sell, transfer, or merge parts of our business or our assets. Alternatively, we may seek to acquire other businesses or merge with them. If a change happens to our business, then the new owners may use your personal data in the same way as set out in this Policy.

International transfers

Whenever we transfer your personal data out of the UK, we ensure that a similar degree of protection is afforded to it by using specific contracts approved for use in the UK which give personal data the same protection it has in the UK.

Please contact us if you want further information on the specific mechanism used by us when transferring your personal data out of the UK.

How long we keep your Personal Data

We don't keep personal information for longer than is necessary. We will only retain your personal information for as long as reasonably necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, regulatory, tax, accounting or reporting requirements. We may retain your personal information for a longer period in the event of a complaint or if we reasonably believe there is a prospect of litigation in respect to our relationship with you.

To determine the appropriate retention period for personal information, we consider the amount, nature and sensitivity of the personal information, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal information, the purposes for which we process your personal information and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal, regulatory, tax, accounting or other requirements.

While we retain this information, we will protect it within commercially acceptable means to prevent loss and theft, as well as unauthorised access, disclosure, copying, use or modification

Where we process personal data for marketing purposes or with your consent, we process the data until you ask us to stop and for a short period after this (to allow us to implement your requests). We also keep a record of the fact that you have asked us not to send you direct marketing or to process your data indefinitely so that we can respect your request in future.

Security

We have appropriate security measures in place to prevent personal information from being accidentally lost, or used or accessed in an unauthorised way. We limit access to your personal information to those who have a genuine business need to know it and those processing your information will do so only in an authorised manner and are subject to a duty of confidentiality. Any sensitive information (such as name, address, email, mobile/cell number or bank details) is encrypted and we utilize secure web-based data collection technology, including industry standard SSL, with 2048-bit RSA keys, facilitating up to 256-bit AES encrypted sessions. We utilise appropriate measures to safeguard data against unauthorised access, disclosure, alteration, or destruction. These measures may include, among others, encryption, physical access security, auditing, and other appropriate technologies.

When you are on a secure page, a lock icon will appear on the web browsers such as Microsoft Internet Explorer or Safari. Once we receive your information, we make our best effort to ensure its security on our systems. Where we have given (or where you have chosen) a password which enables you to access certain parts of our websites, you are responsible for keeping this password confidential. We ask you not to share your password with anyone.

We also have procedures in place to deal with any suspected data security breach. We will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected data security breach where we are legally required to do so.

Your legal rights

Under certain circumstances, you have rights under data protection laws in relation to your personal data. You have the right to:

- Request access to your personal data (commonly known as a "data subject access request"). This enables you to receive a copy of the personal data we hold about you and to check that we are lawfully processing it.
- Request correction of the personal data that we hold about you. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate data we hold about you corrected, though we may need to verify the accuracy of the new data you provide to us.
- Request erasure of your personal data. This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal data where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. You also have the right to ask us to delete or remove your personal data where:
 - you have successfully exercised your right to object to processing (see below); or
 - where we may have processed your information unlawfully; or
 - where we are required to erase your personal data to comply with local law.

However, we may not always be able to comply with your request of erasure for specific legal reasons which will be notified to you, if applicable, at the time of your request.

- Object to processing of your personal data. You may object to our processing where we are relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground as you feel it impacts on your fundamental rights and freedoms. You also have the right to object where we are processing your personal data for direct marketing purposes. In some cases, we may demonstrate that we have compelling legitimate grounds to process your information which override your rights and freedoms.
- Request restriction of processing of your personal data. This enables you to ask us to suspend the processing of your personal data in the following scenarios: (a) if you want us to establish the data's accuracy; (b) where our use of the data is unlawful but you do not want us to erase it; (c) where you need us to hold the data even if we no longer require it as you need it to establish, exercise or defend legal claims; or (d) you have objected to our use of your data but we need to verify whether we have overriding legitimate grounds to use it.
- Request the transfer of your personal data to you or to a third party. We will provide to you, or a third party you have chosen, your personal data in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format. Note that this right only applies to automated information which you initially provided consent for us to use or where we used the information to perform a contract with you.
- Withdraw consent at any time. You may withdraw your consent at any time where we are relying on consent to process your personal data. However, this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before you withdraw your consent. If you withdraw your consent, we may not be able to provide certain products or services to you. We will advise you if this is the case at the time you withdraw your consent.

These rights may be limited, for example if fulfilling your request would reveal personal data about another person, where they would infringe the rights of a third party (including our rights) or if you ask us to delete information which we are required by law to keep or have compelling legitimate interests in keeping. Relevant exemptions are included in both the GDPR and in the Data Protection Act 2018. We will inform you of relevant exemptions we rely upon when responding to any request you make.

If you wish to exercise any of the rights set out above, please contact info@payvyne.com.
